FIVE HUNDRED

Miss Elath Buchanan was hostess of the Five Hundred Club on Saturday afternoon. Beside the regular members several guests were invited.

Following the games a lunch of chicken salad, beaten biscuits, potato chips and ices was served.

The trophy went to Miss Russell White.

PRANDENIAL CLUB

Prof. J. S. Hoskinson entertained the Prandennial Club on Friday evening, at his home on High Street.

The guests were invited to the dining room at half after six where a most elegant dinner was served; the table was exquisite with its snowy linen and vase of red carnations and a very congenial company gathered around the board.

At the conclusion of the meal, the question of vital interest, "Mexico," was discussed.

Those who enjoyed Prof. Hoskinson's hospitality were: Drs. Vaught and Jasper, Messrs. C. C. Wallace, T. H. Collins, R. E. Turley, L. B. Herrington, Elmer Deatherage, and G. E. Lilly. J. P. Culbertson and John Arnold were guests.

WOODFORD CLUB

The cotillion given by the Woodford Cotillion Club last Friday night at Landberger's Hall was a beautiful affair. It was led by W. Stuart Hunter, assisted by Miss Virginia Crenshaw.

Fifty couples took part in the grand march. The honor couples were R. Q. Cogar, of Midway, and Miss Jane D. Stockton, of Richmond; Jas. E. Bond and Miss Florence Edwards, Sam C. Nuckols, Jr., and Miss Lurie Smith, J. N. Camden and Miss Mary Rodes, of Lexington; E. A. Davis and Miss Nellie Belle Pinkerton, Sam'l H. Henton and Mrs. Pattie Bird. Many guests from a distance were present.—Lexington Herald.

Undisturbed Though Very Unusual

Mr. B. F. Hurst who conducts the Richmond Plumbing Company in this city, has had a peculiar experience. A few weeks ago Mrs. Bender, the wife of one of his employees presented her husband with twins. A few nights ago another employee of Mr. Hurst's became the father of two, and to cap the climax, Friday night in this city Mrs. Hurst became the mother of two, a girl and boy. They were christened Anna and Ancil. Saturday the other employees went on a strike saying they wouldn't work in such a place. But the high cost of living should have no terrors for them for they are plumbers.

Starts for Long Journey

Mr. Waller Hudson sailed from New York Saturday for Valparaiso, Chile. It will take him a month to reach his destination and when he does he will be as far south of the equator as we are north of it. Waller has a responsible and lucrative position as mining engineer, and his success has never been a surprise to those who have watched his career with interest, as he stood at the head of his class in our high school, at Central University and at Princeton. Studious, painstaking and conscientious he has always been and is well worthy of all the honors conferred upon him.—Record.

Mr. Hudson is well known here where he has many friends and relatives.

Cyrus Mitchell Dead

Cyrus Mitchell a well known traveling man of Berea, was found dead in his bed at the Boone Tavern Monday morning. Mr. Mitchell had complained the night before of not feeling very well, but had left a call for the early morning train. When the call was made, it was discovered that he was dead. The supposition is that he died from heart failure.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral as we go to press. Mr. Mitchell was a very genial man and had many friends in this city as well as at his home.

Mrs. Collier Died at Lancaster

Mrs. James B. Collier, aged 57, died at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. U. D. Simpson, at Lancaster Ky., after a lingering illness, due to heart disease. She is survived by her husband, three sons, William Collier, of Bell Jellico, Charles Collier, of Fork Ridge Tenn., and Ed S. Collier, of Memphis, and one daughter Elizabeth Collier, of Lancaster. Mrs. Collier is well known here.

Little Mary Louise Ashcraft, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ashcraft, of Irvine, died on the 18th inst. The best medical skill was secured in the hope of saving her life, but in vain. The remains were interred in the Richmond cemetery on Monday afternoon.

Yeggmen visited Danville last Tuesday night and blew the safe at the Fad Cafe, securing about $80 in cash and several checks. As yet there has been no trace of them.

Church Notes

The local churches had a fine attendance both morning and night.

The Rev. C. K. Marshall filled the pulpit at the First Christian church at the morning service. No service at night.

Dr. Quisenberry delighted his audience at the morning session with a beautiful, earnest and inspiring sermon, which was preceded by some patriotic remarks on the war situation.

At the Methodist church Dr. B. C. Horton at the night service preached a remarkably strong sermon on "The Power of the People For Civic Righteousness". The practical sermons of Dr. Horton are valuable to the city and to the citizens alike, and every one should hear him.

Remember that the Kentucky Sunday-schools want one million pupils in Sunday school on May 3. Be sure and go.

Rev. O. J. Young will preach at the east end Christian Church next Sunday at 11 a. m. All are invited.

Rev. James J. Devery, of New York, will give a series of lectures on Catholic Faith and Practice at St. Mark's Catholic Church beginning on next Sunday, May 3rd and continuing for seven days. Every evening at 7:30 o'clock. The public cordially invited.

Will Be Ready

The Kentucky National Guard, as an organization is practically in readiness for service, with a complete brigade of three full regiments and every company recruited nearly to its full strength of sixty-two men and three officers.

In the last six months four companies at Carrollton, Lexington, Richmond and Pineville, have been added to the First Regiment, and in the same period company commanders have been gradually filling their ranks under tacit instructions from the War Department.

Col. J. Tandy Ellis, Acting Adjutant General, received notice from the department that the Kentucky Guard has complied with circular No. 8, which brings it into complete accord with the new militia act for service as part of the standing army.

Officers have been equipped with the forty-five caliber revolver, recently issued by the War Department, the other paraphernalia is already in the hands of the companies, and with what accessions would voluntarily come to the ranks of companies, if war were declared, the Kentucky troops would be ready to move at once into concentration camps.

Mrs. Parker Dead

Mrs. Ann Parker, the mother of Mrs. C. A. Taylor, died at the residence of Mr. Taylor on Broadway, Friday night at the advanced age of 78 years. Mrs. Parker was the wife of the late Lemuel Parker. They had ten children, nine of whom survive her.

Her funeral was preached by Rev. Williams of the Methodist church, and she was interred in the Doyleville Cemetery Sunday afternoon. The floral decorations were beautiful and in great profusion.

Mrs. Parker was a member of the Methodist church, having united with the same in her early years and had lived a consistent life.

Ashes to Ashes

When the ashes of George W. St. Clair are sent back to Lexington from the crematory at Cincinnati, they are to be scattered over the track of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association. This action will be in compliance with Mr. St. Clair's dying request. For 20 years Mr. St. Clair had spent the greater portion of his time at that track where he had trained and raced many good horses and of which for a long time he was interested as a stockholder. The ashes were to be shipped Saturday.
